The administrator needs to ensure the backup job is assigned the first available resource and the backup images on disk are retained as long as possible.How should the new policy be configured?A. Data Classification set to Platinum and Priority set to 101B. Data Classification set to Gold and Priority set to 999C. Data Classification set to Platinum and Policy Type set to CriticalD. Data Classification set to Platinum and Priority set to 01Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3You have a computer that runs Windows 7.Multiple users log on to your computer.You enable auditing on a folder stored on your computer. You need to ensure that each access to the folder is logged.What should you do?A. Start the Problem Steps Recorder.B. From the local Group Policy, configure the Audit directory service Access setting.C. From the local Group Policy, configure the Audit object access setting.D. From Event Viewer, modify the properties of the Security log.Answer: C*Explanation:Audit object access Determines whether to audit the event of a user accessing an object (for example, file, folder, registry key, printer, and so forth) which has its own system access control list (SACL) specified. By default, this value is set to No auditing in the Default Domain Controller Group Policy object (GPO) and in the local policies of workstations and servers. If you define this policy setting, you can specify whether to audit successes, audit failures, or not to audit the event type at all. Success audits generate an audit entry when a user successfully accesses an object that has a SACL specified. Failure audits generate an audit entry when a user unsuccessfully attempts to access an object that has a SACL specified. You can select No auditing by defining the policy setting and unchecking Success and Failure .
