NEW QUESTION: 1 Bryan Stephenson is an equity analyst and is developing a research report on Iberia Corporation at the request of his supervisor. Iberia is a conglomerate entity with significant corporate holdings in various industries. Specifically, Stephenson is interested in the effects of Iberia's investments on its financial performance and has decided to focus on two investments: Midland Incorporated and Odessa Company. Midland Incorporated On December 31, 2007, Iberia purchased 5 million common shares of Midland Incorporated for €80 million. Midland has a total of 12.5 million common shares outstanding. The market value of Iberia's investment in Midland was €89 million at the end of 2008 and €85 million at the end of 2009. For the year ended 2008, Midland reported net income of €30 million and paid dividends of €10 million. For the year ended 2009, Midland reported a loss of €5 million and paid dividends of €4 million. During 2010, Midland sold goods to Iberia and reported 20% gross profit from the sale. Iberia sold all of the goods to a third party in 2010. Odessa Company On January 2, 2009, Iberia purchased 1 million common shares of Odessa Company as a long-term investment. The purchase price was €20 per share and on December 31, 2009, the market price of Odessa was €17 per share. The decline in value was considered temporary. For the year ended 2009, Odessa reported net income of €750 million and paid a dividend of €3 per share. Iberia considers its investment in Odessa as an investment in financial assets. In addition, Iberia has a number of foreign investments, so Stephenson's supervisor has asked him to draft a report on accounting methods and ratio analysis. The following are statements from Stephenson's research report. Statement 1: Under U.S. GAAP, firms are required to use proportionate consolidation to account for joint ventures. Statement 2: In general, if the parent's consolidated net income is positive, the equity method reports a higher net profit margin than the acquisition method. What amount should Iberia report on its balance sheet at the end of 2009 as a result of its investments in Midland and Odessa? A. €101.4 million. B. €102.0 million. C. €84.4 million.

Answer: A Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Under the equity method, the balance sheet carrying Value is increased by the pro-rata earnings of the investee and decreased by the dividends received from the investee. The balance sheet value at the end of 2008 is €88 million [$€80 \text{ million} + (\text{€}30 \text{ million Midland 2008 net income} \times 40\%) - (\text{€}10 \text{ million dividend} \times 40\%)$]. The balance sheet value at the end of 2009 is €84.4 million ($€88 \text{ million} - (\text{€}5 \text{ million loss} \times 40\%) - (\text{€}4 \text{ million dividend} \times 40\%)$). Available-for-sale securities are reported on the balance sheet at fair value. Thus, the fair value of Odessa is €17 million ($€17 \times 1 \text{ million shares}$). As a result of its investment in Midland and Odessa, Iberia will report investment assets of €101.4 million ($€84.4 \text{ million book value of Midland} + €17 \text{ million fair value Odessa}$).
