These farms are located in a developed country with strong labour laws. Classify each of the following statements as true or false.Answer:

NEW QUESTION: 3 The IT department has setup a website with a series of questions to allow end users to reset their own accounts. Which of the following account management practices does this help?A. Account DisablementsB. Password RecoveryC. Password ComplexityD. Password ExpirationAnswer: B
Explanation: People tend to forget their own passwords and because a user's password is not stored on the operating system, only a hash value is kept and most operating systems allow the administrator to change the value meaning that the password can then be recovered. If you allow end users to reset their own accounts then the password recovery process is helped along. Incorrect Answers: A. Account disablements is akin to locking an account when users may be going on leave, or leave the company, etc. this is not aided in any way when you allow end users to reset their own accounts. B. Password expiration is a practice that should be implemented to mitigate security risks since the longer a password is in use, the easier it can be broken. This has nothing to do with resetting account passwords. C. Password complexity refers to the difficulty degree in the password. The more difficult/complex, the more difficult it will be for miscreant to guess the passwords. This is not allowing end users to reset their own accounts.
