NEW QUESTION: 1An organization's IT security policy states that user ID's must uniquely identify individual's and that user should not disclose their passwords. An IS auditor discovers that several generic user ID's are being used.Which of the following is the MOST appropriate course of action for the auditor/A. Recommend a change in security policy.B. Investigate the noncompliance.C. Recommend disciplinary action.D. Include the finding in the final audit report.Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2Which protocol will accept incoming updates when the passive-interface command is configured?A. OSPFB. RIPC. EIGRPD. IS-ISAnswer: B*Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:Section: (none)Explanation/Reference:The passive interface command is used to disable routing updates from being sent out a specific interface while still advertising the connected network to other routers. However, the command behaves a bit differently in RIP and EIGRP. In RIP, the passive interface command will stop RIP messages from being sent out that interface but it will still listen to and accept incoming updates. In EIGRP, on the other hand, the command prevents neighborships from forming. The interface will not send nor receive Hello packets, and therefore, incoming and outgoing updates are also denied.

NEW QUESTION: 3When reviewing a database supported by a third-party service provider, an IS auditor found minor control deficiencies. The auditor should FIRST discuss recommendations with the:A. service provider support team managerB. service provider contract liaisonC. organization's service level managerD. organization's chief information officer (CIO)Answer: C
