NEW QUESTION: 2 The 1310 nm and 1550 nm transmission windows are low-loss windows. In DWDM systems, only the 1550 nm transmission window is used. Which of the following is the major cause?
A. The 1550 nm wavelength area is applicable to long-haul transmission.
B. None of the above
C. The working wavelength flatness area of the EDFA is included in this window.
D. The non-linear effect of the 1550 nm wavelength area is small.
Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3 Which of the following items represents a document that includes detailed information on when an incident was detected, how impactful the incident was, and how it was remediated, in addition to incident response effectiveness and any identified gaps needing improvement?
A. Lessons learned report
B. Forensic analysis report

NEW QUESTION: 4 Which two are advantages of static routing when compared to dynamic routing? (Choose two.)
A. Routing updates are automatically sent to neighbors.
B. Configuration complexity decreases as network size increases.
C. Routing traffic load is reduced when used in stub network links.
D. An efficient algorithm is used to build routing tables, using automatic updates.
E. Security increases because only the network administrator may change the routing table.
F. Routing tables adapt automatically to topology changes.
G. Route summarization is computed automatically by the router.
Answer: C,E

Explanation: Explanation Since static routing is a manual process, it can be argued that it is more secure (and more prone to human errors) since the network administrator will need to make changes to the routing table directly. Also, in stub networks where there is only a single uplink connection, the load is reduced as stub routers just need a single static default route, instead of many routes that all have the same next hop IP address.
