NEW QUESTION: 2 You manage a database named DB1 that uses the following filegroups: The database is configured to use full recovery model. Transaction logs are backed up to a backup set named TLogBackup. The PRIMARY and FG2 for DB1 are damaged. FG1 and FG3 are intact. You need to design a piecemeal restore plan that meets all the above requirements. You need to bring critical filegroups online as soon as possible while minimizing restoration time. All damaged filegroups must be online after the restore operation completes. Which five actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.Answer: Explanation: Explanation Step 1: Perform a differential database backup... Step 2: Perform a tail-log backup... A tail-log backup captures any log records that have not yet been backed up (the tail of the log) to prevent work loss and to keep the log chain intact. Before you can recover a SQL Server database to its latest point in time, you must back up the tail of its transaction log. The tail-log backup will be the last backup of interest in the recovery plan for the database. Step 3: The PRIMARY and FG2 for DB1 are damaged. FG1 and FG3 are intact. Step 4: Transaction logs are backed up to a backup set named TLogBackup. Step 5: The PRIMARY and FG2 for DB1 are damaged. NEW QUESTION: 3 Cobb, an unmarried individual, had an adjusted gross income of $200,000 in 1990 before any IRA deduction, taxable social security benefits, or passive activity losses. Cobb incurred a loss of $30,000 in 1990 from rental real estate in which he actively participated. What amount of loss attributable to this rental real estate can be used in 1990 as an offset against income from nonpassive sources? A. $0 B. $25,000 C. $30,000 D. $12,500 Answer: A Explanation: Explanation Choice "a" is correct. Cobb may not use any of the loss attributable to his rental real estate as an offset against income from nonpassive sources in 1990 because he does not qualify for the "Mom and Pop" exception. Under this exception, up to $25,000 of passive losses and the deduction equivalent of tax credits that are attributable to rental real estate may be used as an offset against income from nonpassive sources. This $25,000 allowance is reduced, but not below zero, by 50% of the amount by which the individual's modified AGI exceeds $100,000. The $25,000 is therefore completely phased out when modified AGI reaches $150,000. Because Cobb's AGI was $200,000, he did not qualify for the exception. Choices "b", "c", and "d" are incorrect. Rental activities are passive activities and generally are not allowed to use any of the loss attributable to the rental activity to offset any income produced from nonpassive sources. There is a limited exception in the case of losses from rental real estate in which the taxpayer actively participates, but Cobb did not qualify for it.

NEW QUESTION: 4 When you are analyzing the current state of a business, what are two purposes of business process modeling? (Choose two.) A. to define current state service procurement processes B. to identify inefficient or unnecessary processes C. to identify technology process improvements D. to determine the feasibility of future state processes E. to understand the future state of the business Answer: C, E
