NEW QUESTION: 2 You need to move the Active Directory database to a new volume. What should you do? A. Copy the ntds.dit file to the new volume by using the ROBOCOPY command. B. Move the ntds.dit file to the new volume by using Windows Explorer. C. Move the ntds.dit file to the new volume by using the Files option in the Ntdsutil utility. D. Move the ntds.dit file to the new volume by running the Move-item command in Microsoft Windows PowerShell. Answer: C
Explanation: Move the ntds.dit file to the new volume by using the Files option in the Ntdsutil utility. <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc816720%28v=ws.10%29.aspx> Move the Directory Database and Log Files to a Local Drive You can use this procedure to move Active Directory database and log files to a local drive. When you move the files to a folder on the local domain controller, you can move them permanently or temporarily. Move the files to a temporary destination if you need to reformat the original location, or move the files to a permanent location if you have additional disk space. If you reformat the original drive, use the same procedure to move the files back after the reformat is complete. Ntdsutil.exe updates the registry when you move files locally. Even if you are moving the files only temporarily, use Ntdsutil.exe so that the registry is always current. On a domain controller that is running Windows Server 2008, you do not have to restart the domain controller in Directory Services Restore Mode (DSRM) to move database files. You can stop the Active Directory Domain Services (AD DS) service and then restart the service after you move the files to their permanent location. To move the directory database and log files to a local drive:7.At the ntdsutil prompt, type files, and then press ENTER.8.To move the database file, at the file maintenance: prompt, use the following commands:Further information:

Moving Active Directory Database and Logs Step 1 Start the server in Directory Services Restore ModeWindows Server 2003/2008 Directory Service opens its files in exclusive mode. This means that the files cannot be managed while the server is operating as a domain controller. To perform any files movement related activities using ntdsutil, we need to start the server in Directory Services Restore Mode.To start the server in Directory Services Restore mode, follow these steps:Restart the computer.After the BIOS information is displayed, press F8.Use the DOWN ARROW to select Directory Services Restore Mode, and then press ENTER.C:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGLog on with your local administrative account and password. (Not Domain Administrative account)C:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGNote: using service control (SC.exe) you can verify quickly ntds services are running or stopped. In command prompt type SC query ntdsC:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGStep 2 How to Move Active Directory Database and Logs You can move the Ntds.dit data file to a new folder. If you do so, the registry is updated so that Directory Service uses the new location when you restart the server. To move the data file to another folder, follow these steps: Click Start, click Run, type ntdsutil in the Open box, and then press ENTER.C:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGAt the Ntdsutil command prompt, type activate instance ntds, and then press ENTER.C:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGAt the Ntdsutil command prompt, type files, and then press ENTER.C:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGAt the file maintenance command prompt, type move DB to <new location> (where new location is an existing folder that you have created for this purpose) and then press ENTER. In this case, the new location for database is C:ADDatabase Now C:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGNow to move logs , at the file maintenance command prompt, type move logs to <new location> (where new location is an existing folder that you have created for this purpose) and then press ENTER. In our case, the new location for database is C:ADLogsC:Documents and Settingsusernwz1Desktop1.PNGTo quit file maintenance, type quit. Again to Ntdsutil, type quit to close the prompt Restart the computer. AD database and Logs are moved successfully to new location.

NEW QUESTION: 3You are an administrator for a company named Contoso, Ltd.Contoso has an Exchange Server 2013 organization.Contoso has a partnership agreement with a company named A Datum Corporation. A Datum has an Exchange server 2013 organization.Both organizations have a federation trust to the Microsoft Federation Gateway. Users at Contoso plan to share their free/busy information with users at A Datum.You need to recommend which tasks must be performed to ensure that the A Datum users can see the free/busy information of the Contoso users.Which two actions should you recommend? (Each correct answer presents part of the solution. Choose two.)A. In the Exchange Server organization of Contoso, create a sharing policy.B. In the Exchange Server organization of A Datum, configure directory synchronization.C. In the Exchange Server organization of A Datum, create an organization relationship.D. In the Exchange Server organization of Contoso, create an organization relationship.E. In the Exchange Server organization of Contoso, configure directory synchronization.F. In the Exchange Server organization of A Datum, create a sharing policy.
Answer: A,DExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Business-to-business calendar

sharing is set up by creating organization relationships. User-to-user calendar sharing is set up by applying sharing policies. There is no requirement for Contoso users to view the free/busy information of the A.Datum users. Therefore, we don't need to create an organization relationship in A.Datum. Configure Federated Sharing Step 1: Create and configure a federation trust (this has already been done here) Step 2 (D): Create an organization relationship An organization relationship enables users in your Exchange organization to share calendar free/busy information as part of federated sharing with other federated Exchange organizations. Step 3 (E): Create a sharing policy Sharing policies enable user-established, people-to-people sharing of both calendar and contact information with different types of external users. They support the sharing of calendar and contact information with external federated organizations, external non-federated organizations, and individuals with Internet access. If you don't need to configure people-to-people or contact sharing (organization-level sharing only), you don't need to configure a sharing policy. Step 4: Configure an Autodiscover public DNS record Note: With federated sharing, users in your on-premises Exchange organization can share free/busy calendar information with recipients in other Exchange organizations that are also configured for federated sharing. Free/busy sharing can be enabled between two organizations running Exchange 2013 and also between organizations with a mixed Exchange deployment.
