NEW QUESTION: 1 Company P paid US $600,000 for all of the outstanding ordinary stock of Company S in a business combination initiated and completed in the current year. At that time, Company S had the following condensed balance sheet. The fair value of the plant and equipment was US $120,000 more than its carrying amount. The fair values and carrying amounts were equal for all other assets and liabilities. What amount of goodwill, related to Company S's acquisition, should Company P report in its consolidated balance sheet? A. US $40,000 B. US $120,000 C. US $160,000 D. US $80,000 Answer: A Explanation: Under the acquisition method, assets acquired and liabilities assumed should be recorded at their acquisition-date fair values. Any excess of the sum of the considerations transferred, any noncontrolling interest, and any previously held equity interest over the fair value of the net assets acquired is recorded as goodwill. After adjusting the net plant and equipment, and given that other items are stated at fair value, the fair value of the net assets acquired is US $560,000 [$80,000 current assets + $760,000 + $120,000) plant and equipment - $400,000 liabilities]. Hence, goodwill is US $40,000 ($600,000 consideration - $560,000).
