NEW QUESTION: 1The Chief Information Officer (CIO) wants to know how secure the company's new IT system is. The Information Assurance Officer (IAO) decides that an external third party test of the system prior to deployment will provide an objective assessment for the CIO. Which of the following methods should be used in the scenario to test the system?A. Lockdown testingB. Account lock out testC. Penetration testingD. Hacker testingAnswer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2At the end of the testing phase of software development, an IS auditor observes that an intermittent software error has not been corrected. No action has been taken to resolve the error. The IS auditor should:A. report the error as a finding and leave further exploration to the auditee's discretion.B. attempt to resolve the error.C. ignore the error, as it is not possible to get objective evidence for the software error.D. recommend that problem resolution be escalated.Answer: D*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:When an IS auditor observes such conditions, it is best to fully apprise the auditee and suggest that further problem resolutions be attempted. Recording it as a minor error and leaving it to the auditee's discretion would be inappropriate, and neglecting the error would indicate that the auditor has not taken steps to further probe the issue to its logical end.
