NEW QUESTION: 3You develop data engineering solutions for a company. The company has on-premises Microsoft SQL Server databases at multiple locations. The company must integrate data with Microsoft Power BI and Microsoft Azure Logic Apps. The solution must avoid single points of failure during connection and transfer to the cloud. The solution must also minimize latency. You need to secure the transfer of data between on-premises databases and Microsoft Azure. What should you do?A. Install an on-premises data gateway in personal mode at each locationB. Install a standalone on-premises Azure data gateway at each locationC. Install an Azure on-premises data gateway at the primary locationD. Install an Azure on-premises data gateway as a cluster at each locationAnswer: D
Explanation:You can create high availability clusters of On-premises data gateway installations, to ensure your organization can access on-premises data resources used in Power BI reports and dashboards. Such clusters allow gateway administrators to group gateways to avoid single points of failure in accessing on-premises data resources. The Power BI service always uses the primary gateway in the cluster, unless it's not available. In that case, the service switches to the next gateway in the cluster, and so on. References:
