NEW QUESTION: 2 A new upstream API is being designed to offer an SLA of 500 ms median and 800 ms maximum (99th percentile) response time. The corresponding API implementation needs to sequentially invoke 3 downstream APIs of very similar complexity. The first of these downstream APIs offers the following SLA for its response time: median: 100 ms, 80th percentile: 500 ms, 95th percentile: 1000 ms. If possible, how can a timeout be set in the upstream API for the invocation of the first downstream API to meet the new upstream API's desired SLA?
A. Do not set a timeout; the invocation of this API is mandatory and so we must wait until it responds
B. No timeout is possible to meet the upstream API's desired SLA; a different SLA must be negotiated with the first downstream API or invoke an alternative API
C. Set a timeout of 100 ms; that leaves 400 ms for the other two downstream APIs to complete
D. Set a timeout of 50 ms; this times out more invocations of that API but gives additional room for retries
