NEW QUESTION: 1 You have external virtual switch with srv-io enabled with 10 Virtual Machines on it. You need to make the Virtual Machines able to talk only to each other.A. adjust srv-io settingsB. remove vswitch and recreate it as publicC. remove the vswitch and recreate it as privateD. add new vswitchAnswer: C*Explanation: There are three possible modes for the Hyper-V switch: private, internal, and public. Do not confuse these with IP addressing schemes or any other networking configuration in a different technology.Private Switch The private switch allows communications among the virtual machines on the host and nothing else. Even the management operating system is not allowed to participate. This switch is purely logical and does not use any physical adapter in any way. "Private" in this sense is not related to private IP addressing. You can mentally think of this as a switch that has no ability to uplink to other switches.Internal Switch The internal switch is similar to the private switch with one exception: the management operating system can have a virtual adapter on this type of switch and communicate with any virtual machines that also have virtual adapters on the switch. This switch also does not have any matching to a physical adapter and therefore also cannot uplink to another switch.External Switch This switch type must be connected to a physical adapter. It allows communications between the physical network and the management operating system and virtual machines. Do not confuse this switch type with public IP addressing schemes or let its name suggest that it needs to be connected to a public-facing connection. You can use the same private IP address range for the adapters on an external virtual switch that you're using on the physical network it's attached to

Answer: B,E

NEW QUESTION: 3Which three statements are true concerning the Automatic Workload Repository (AWR) in a RAC environment?A. The `awr_snapshot_time_offset` parameter specifies the number of seconds each instance waits after the top of the hour before taking its AWR snapshot.B. Taking an AWR snapshot in a RAC database captures data from all instances that have the database opened.C. Data captured by an AWR is aggregated across all instances before being stored in the database.D. AWR snapshots are created when `control_management_pack_access` is set to "none"E. Taking an AWR snapshot in a RAC database captures data from the local instance only.Answer: A,B,D Explanation/Reference:Explanation:AWR snapshots are collect at database level.Oracle extends the AWR tool for RAC databases by adding the possibility to generate snapshots reports against the whole cluster database, some database instances of the cluster database, a specific database instance of the cluster database, statistics for a specific select query.D: `AWR_SNAPSHOT_TIME_OFFSET` specifies an offset for the AWR snapshot start time. AWR snapshots normally start at the top of the hour (12:00, 1:00, 2:00, and so on). This parameter allows DBAs to specify an offset for the AWR snapshot start time.Incorrect Answers:*E: `CONTROL_MANAGEMENT_PACK_ACCESS` specifies which of the Server Manageability Packs should be active. The following packs are available:The `DIAGNOSTIC` pack includes AWR, ADDM, and so on.The `TUNING` pack includes SQL Tuning Advisor, SQLAccess Advisor, and so on.The `NONE` value means that both packs are not available.
