NEW QUESTION: 2 Which activity is used to invoke a human task from a BPEL process?
A. Invoke human task
B. Start human task
C. Human task
D. Task
E. Invoke
Answer: E
Explanation: Note: *Activities are the building blocks of a BPEL process service component. Oracle BPEL Designer includes a set of activities that you drag into a BPEL process service component. You then double-click an activity to define its attributes (property values). Activities enable you to perform specific tasks within a BPEL process service component. For example, here are several key activities: / An assign activity enables you to manipulate data, such as copying the contents of one variable to another. / An invoke activity enables you to invoke a service (identified by its partner link) and specify an operation for this service to perform. / A receive activity waits for an asynchronous callback response message from a service. *Invoking a human task from a BPEL process is a two-step process:
