NEW QUESTION: 3 _____ endorsement allows the default chaincode-level endorsement policies to be overridden by a different policy for the specified keys. What type of endorsement is this? A. Stateless B. Policy Driven C. Key-Value D. State based Answer: D
Explanation: Explanation State Based by default, endorsement policies are specified for a channel's chaincode at instantiation or upgrade time (that is, one endorsement policy covers all of the state associated with a chaincode). However, there are cases where it may be necessary for a particular state (a particular key-value pair, in other words) to have a different endorsement policy. This state-based endorsement allows the default chaincode-level endorsement policies to be overridden by a different policy for the specified keys. References:
