NEW QUESTION: 4You are the administrator of a Microsoft SQL Server 2014 server.Some applications consume significant resources. You need to manage the server workload by restricting resource-intensive applications You need to dynamically limit resource consumption.What should you do?A. Set up Service Broker to ensure that application are not allowed to consume more than the specified amount of resourceB. Create a new plan Guide with a Scope Type of sql and define the resource limits for each applicationC. Create a new rule for each application that sets the resource limit allowedD. Configure Resource Pools, Workload Groups, and Classifier Function, and then enable the Resource GovernorAnswer: DExplanation:

In the SQL Server Resource Governor, a resource pool represents a subset of the physical resources of an instance of the Database Engine. Resource Governor enables you to specify limits on the amount of CPU, physical IO, and memory that incoming application requests can use within the resource pool. Each resource pool can contain one or more workload groups. When a session is started, the Resource Governor classifier assigns the session to a specific workload group, and the session must run using the resources assigned to the workload group.
