NEW QUESTION: 2Tailspin Toys completes the implementation of Call Admission Control (CAC) for the entire network.You need to configure the Enterprise Voice policies for executives. What should you do?A. Enable the bandwidth policy override feature in the machine level group policy object.B. Enable the bandwidth policy override feature in the user level client policy.C. Enable the bandwidth policy override feature in the user level group policy object.D. Enable the bandwidth policy override feature in the user level voice policy.Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3Note: This question is part of a series of questions that use the same scenario. For your convenience, the scenario is repeated in each question. Each question presents a different goal and answer choices, but the text of the scenario is exactly the same in each question in this series.Start of the repeated scenarioYour network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The functional level of the domain is Windows Server 2012.The network uses an address space of 192.168.0.0/16 and contains multiple subnets.The network is not connected to the Internet.The domain contains three servers configured as shown in the following table.Client computers obtain TCP/IP settings from Server3.You add a second network adapter to Server2. You connect the new network adapter to the Internet. You install the Routing role service on Server2.Server1 has four DNS zones configured as shown in the following table.End of the repeated scenarioYou need to ensure that when computers query for records in tailspintoys.com, the query results are based on the subnet of the computer that generates the query.What should you do?A. Configure DNS policies.B. Enable DNS round robin.C. Create zone delegation records.D. Modify the Priority settings of each resource record.Answer: AExplanation:Explanation
<https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/windows-server/networking/dns/deploy/primary-secondary-geo-location> Geo-Location Based Traffic Management. primary and secondary DNS servers to respond to DNS client queries based on the geographical location of both the client and the resource to which the client is attempting to connect, providing the client with the IP address of the closest resource.In the Internet infrastructure, however, the DNS servers are widely deployed in a primary-secondary model, where the writable copy of a zone is stored on selectand secure primary servers, and read-only copies of the zone are kept on multiple secondary servers.The secondary servers use the zone transfer protocols Authoritative Transfer

(AXFR) and Incremental Zone Transfer (IXFR) to request and receive zone updates that include new changes to the zones on the primary DNS servers. Following is an example of how you can use DNS policy in a primary-secondary deployment to achieve traffic redirection on the basis of the physical location of the client that performs a DNS query. This example uses two fictional companies - Contoso Cloud Services, which provides web and domain hosting solutions; and Woodgrove Food Services, which provides food delivery services in multiple cities across the globe, and which has a Web site named woodgrove.com. To ensure that woodgrove.com customers get a responsive experience from their website, Woodgrove wants European clients directed to the European datacenter and American clients directed to the U.S. datacenter. Customers located elsewhere in the world can be directed to either of the datacenters. Contoso Cloud Services has two data centers, one in the U.S. and another in Europe, upon which Contoso hosts its food ordering portal for woodgrove.com. The Contoso DNS deployment includes two secondary servers: SecondaryServer1, with the IP address 10.0.0.2; and SecondaryServer2, with the IP address 10.0.0.3. These secondary servers are acting as name servers in the two different regions, with SecondaryServer1 located in Europe and SecondaryServer2 located in the U.S. There is a primary writable zone copy on PrimaryServer (IP address 10.0.0.1), where the zone changes are made. With regular zone transfers to the secondary servers, the secondary servers are always up to date with any new changes to the zone on the PrimaryServer. The following illustration depicts this scenario.
