NEW QUESTION: 1A network engineer must adjust the STP interface attributes to influence root port selection.Which two elements are used to accomplish this? (Choose two.)A. forward-timersB. link typeC. port-priorityD. root guardE. costAnswer: C,E*Explanation: Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Spanning tree forces redundant data paths into a standby (blocked) state. If a network segment in thespanning tree fails and a redundant path exists, the spanning-tree algorithm recalculates the spanning-treetopology and activates the standby path. Switches send and receive spanning-tree frames, called bridgeprotocol data units (BPDUs), at regular intervals. The switches do not forward these frames but use themto construct a loop-free path. BPDUs contain information about the sending switch and its ports, includingswitch and MAC addresses, switch priority, port priority, and path cost. Spanning tree uses this informationto elect the root switch and root port for the switched network and the root port and designated port foreach switched segment.When two ports on a switch are part of a loop, the spanning-tree port priority and path cost settings controlwhich port is put in the forwarding state and which is put in the blocking state. The spanning-tree portpriority value represents the location of a port in the network topology and how well it is located to pass traffic. The path cost value represents the media speed.Reference: http://www.cisco.com/c/en/us/td/docs/switches/lan/catalyst3750x_3560x/software/release/12-2_55_se/configuration/guide/3750xscg/swstp.html
