NEW QUESTION: 1 Eine Organisation, die einen Vertrag mit einem Cloud-Dienstanbieter plant, ist besorgt über das Risiko einer Kontoentführung bei der Anmeldung. Was ist für das Unternehmen in seinen Sicherheitsanforderungen am wichtigsten, um dieses Problem anzugehen? A. Verwenden Sie die Multi-Faktor-Authentifizierung B. Kontokennwörter regelmäßig wechseln C. Verwenden Sie die Verschlüsselung für Kontoanmeldungen D. Erstellen Sie eindeutige Anmeldeinformationen für jeden Benutzer. Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which of the following statements are true: I. Caps allow the buyer of the cap protection against rise in interest expense II. Floors offer investors protection from downward movement in interest rates III. Collars can be used as hedges IV. Both caps and collars can be used to hedge against widening credit spreads A. I, II and III B. I, II, III and IV C. I and II D. II and III Answer: A Explanation: Explanation Interest rate caps are effectively call options on an underlying interest rate that protect the buyer of the cap against a rise in interest rates over the agreed exercise rate. As with options, the premium on the cap depends upon the volatility of the underlying rates as one of its variables. A floor is the exact opposite of a cap, ie it is effectively a put option on an underlying interest rate that protects the buyer of the floor against a fall in interest rates below the agreed exercise rate. Therefore statements I and II are correct. A cap protects a borrower against a rise in interest rates beyond a point, and a floor protects a lender against a fall in interest rates below a point. A collar is a combination of a long cap and a short floor, the idea being that the premium due on the cap is offset partly by the premium earned on the short floor position. Therefore a collar is less expensive than a cap or a floor. Caps, floors and collars provide a hedge against interest rate risks. Therefore statement III is correct too. However, they do not always provide protection against spreads changing, as the rate other than the one referenced by the cap or the floor may change causing the spread to change. Therefore statement IV is incorrect.

NEW QUESTION: 3 During a security assessment, an administrator wishes to see which services are running on a remote server. Which of the following should the administrator use? A. Network sniffer B. Process list C. Protocol analyzer D. Port scanner Answer: D Explanation: Different services use different ports. When a service is enabled on a computer, a network port is opened for that service. For example, enabling the HTTP service on a web server will open port 80 on the server. By determining which ports are open on a remote server, we can determine which services are running on that server. A port scanner is a software application designed to probe a server or host for open ports. This is often used by administrators to verify security policies of their networks and by attackers to identify running services on a host with the view to compromise it. A port scan or nmap can be defined as a process that sends client requests to a range of server port addresses on a host, with the goal of finding an active port. While not a nefarious process in and of itself, it is one used by hackers to probe target machine services with the aim of exploiting a known vulnerability of that service. However the majority of uses of a port scan are not attacks and are simple probes to determine services available on a remote machine. Incorrect Answers: B. A network sniffer is another name for a protocol analyzer. A Protocol Analyzer is a hardware device or more commonly a software program used to capture network data communications sent between devices on a network. It may be possible to determine which services are open on a server by analyzing the network traffic to and from the server. However, it would be administratively difficult. A port scanner is a much simpler solution. C. A Protocol Analyzer is a hardware device or more commonly a software program used to capture network data communications sent between devices on a network. It may be possible to determine which services are open on a server by analyzing the network traffic to and from the server. However, it would be administratively difficult. A port scanner is a much simpler solution. D. A process list would list all processes running on a computer, including services. However, this question is asking about a remote server. It would be difficult to obtain a process list from a remote server without having full access to the server. You can scan the server for open ports without having full access to the server.
