NEW QUESTION: 1 Which of the following statements pertaining to protection rings is false?A. Programs operating in inner rings are usually referred to as existing in a privileged mode.B. They provide users with a direct access to peripheralsC. They support the CIA triad requirements of multitasking operating systems.D. They provide strict boundaries and definitions on what the processes that work within each ring can access.Answer: BExplanation: In computer science, hierarchical protection domains, often called protection rings, are mechanisms to protect data and functionality from faults (fault tolerance) and malicious behaviour (computer security). This approach is diametrically opposite to that of capability-based security.Computer operating systems provide different levels of access to resources. A protection ring is one of two or more hierarchical levels or layers of privilege within the architecture of a computer system. This is generally hardware-enforced by some CPU architectures that provide different CPU modes at the hardware or microcode level.Rings are arranged in a hierarchy from most privileged (most trusted, usually numbered zero) to least privileged (least trusted, usually with the highest ring number). On most operating systems, Ring 0 is the level with the most privileges and interacts most directly with the physical hardware such as the CPU and memory.Special gates between rings are provided to allow an outer ring to access an inner ring's resources in a predefined manner, as opposed to allowing arbitrary usage. Correctly gating access between rings can improve security by preventing programs from one ring or privilege level from misusing resources intended for programs in another. For example, spyware running as a user program in Ring 3 should be prevented from turning on a web camera without informing the user, since hardware access should be a Ring 1 function reserved for device drivers. Programs such as web browsers running in higher numbered rings must request access to the network, a resource restricted to a lower numbered ring."They provide strict boundaries and definitions on what the processes that work within each ringcan access" is incorrect. This is in fact one of the characteristics of a ring protection system."Programs operating in inner rings are usually referred to as existing in a privileged mode" isincorrect. This is in fact one of the characteristics of a ring protection system."They support the CIA triad requirements of multitasking operating systems" is incorrect. Discovery-Domänen in einer iSCSI-Struktur ermöglichen es Ihnen, wie Zonen in einer Fibre-Channel-Struktur, die Speicherressourcen in Ihrem SAN (Storage Area Network) zu partitionieren. NEW QUESTION: 3 Your company has a requirement to work with a DynamoDB table. There is a security mandate that all data should be encrypted at rest. What is the easiest way to accomplish this for DynamoDB.Please select:A. Use the AWS SDK to encrypt the data before sending it to the DynamoDB tableB. Encrypt the table using AWS KMS after it is createdC. Encrypt the DynamoDB table using KMS during its creationD. Use S3 buckets to encrypt the data before sending it to DynamoDBAnswer: CExplanation:ExplanationThe most easiest option is to enable encryption when the DynamoDB table is created.The AWS Documentation mentions the followingAmazon DynamoDB offers fully managed encryption at rest. DynamoDB encryption at rest provides enhanced security by encrypting your data at rest using an AWS Key Management Service (AWS KMS) managed encryption key for DynamoDB. This functionality eliminates the operational burden and complexity involved in protecting sensitive data.Option A is partially correct, you can use the AWS SDK to encrypt the data, but the easier option would be to encrypt the table before hand.Option C is invalid because you cannot encrypt the table after it is created Option D is invalid because encryption for S3 buckets is for the objects in S3 only.For more information on securing data at rest for DynamoDB please refer to below URL: https://docs.aws.amazon.com/amazondynamodb/latest/developerguide/EncryptionAtRest.html The correct answer is: Encrypt the DynamoDB table using KMS during its creation Submit your Feedback/Queries to our Experts
