NEW QUESTION: 1You are investigating issues with two gateway cluster members that are not able to establish the first initial cluster synchronization. What service is used by the FWD daemon to do a Full Synchronization?A. TCP port 443B. TCP port 257C. UDP port 8116D. TCP port 256Answer: D*Explanation:Synchronization works in two modes:Full sync transfers all Security Gateway kernel table information from one cluster member to another. It is handled by the fwd daemon using an encrypted TCP connection.Delta sync transfers changes in the kernel tables between cluster members. Delta sync is handled by the Security Gateway kernel using UDP multicast or broadcast on port 8116.Full sync is used for initial transfers of state information, for many thousands of connections. If a cluster member is brought up after being down, it will perform full sync. After all members are synchronized, only updates are transferred via delta sync. Delta sync is quicker than full sync.

NEW QUESTION: 2Which of the following protocols operates at the session layer (layer 5)?A. IGMPB. RPPC. SPXD. LDPAnswer: B*Explanation:The socket method of network use is a message-based system, in which one process writes a message to another. This is a long way from the procedural model. The remote procedure call is intended to act like a procedure call, but to act across the network transparently. The process makes a remote procedure call by pushing its parameters and a return address onto the stack, and jumping to the start of the procedure. The procedure itself is responsible for accessing and using the network. After the remote execution is over, the procedure jumps back to the return address. The calling process then continues. RPC works at the Session layer of the OSI model.
