When looking at "show spanning-tree", the technician sees the port mode is "Alt." What is causing this behavior?A. Spanning Tree detected a loop.B. The root bridge priority must be configured.C. The link is physically down.D. A broadcast storm is causing traffic loss.Answer: A

(C) The Denver Developmental Screening Test is one of the most widely used screening tests. It offers a concise, easy-to-administer, systematic approach to assessing the preschool child. NEW QUESTION: 4IBM UrbanCode Deploy (UCD) allows users to download artifacts from a Maven style repository. How does the incremental file transfer (sync/clean) work from the repository to the target server?A. IBM UCD downloads the files from the Maven repository, checks each file's hash, and compares it to the target before copying files.B. IBM UCD always performs a sync, regardless of the repository.C. IBM UCD queries Nexus/Artifactory for the full list of hash values before transferring the files.D. IBM UCD does not offer the ability to sync and clean with the Maven integration.Answer: A Explanation: With Sync enabled, UrbanCode Deploy will attempt to move only the files that are different in the component version than on the target system. With "Sync and Clean" the agent will also remove any files in the target directory that are not in the component version. The details of how the Sync works varies based on the options in selected. The process always starts the same, the agent is sent a manifest of the files in the version, their sizes, modification dates, and SHA-256 hash. With Full Verification unchecked, it will examine the directory and compare the file sizes and modification dates to the manifest. Any files that don't match will be replaced. With "Full Verification" checked, each file will have its SHA-256 checksum calculated and compared to the manifest. This approach is safer, but takes more CPU on the agent, and is a bit slower.
