NEW QUESTION: 1 In the Receiving application, what does the Quantity Accepted field indicate?
A. The quantity of items that received inspection
B. The quantity of items that passed inspection
C. The quantity of items that are awaiting inspection
D. The quantity of items accepted for inspection
Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which of the following is not classified as a "Security and Audit Frameworks and Methodologies"?
A. Bell LaPadula
B. Control Objectives for Information and related Technology (COBIT)
C. Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO)
D. IT Infrastructure Library (ITIL)
Answer: A
Explanation: From the official Guide, second edition: Bell LaPadula is a Security Model. "In general, most security models will focus on defining allowed interactions between subjects (active parties) and objects (passive parties) at a particular moment in time." The remaining three listed would all be classified as frameworks. "Multiple frameworks and methodologies have been created to support security, auditing, and risk assessment of implemented security controls. These resources are valuable to assist in the design and testing of a security program. The following frameworks and methodologies have each gained a degree of acceptance within the auditing or information security community and assist within information security and auditing. Although the origins of several of them were not specifically designed to support information security, many of the processes within these practices help security professionals identify and implement controls in support of confidentiality, integrity, and availability." The following reference(s) were/was used to create this question: Tipton, Harold F. (2010-04-20). Official (ISC)2 Guide to the CISSP CBK, Third Edition ((ISC)2 Press) Chapter 3, Information Security Governance and Risk Management, Pages 514-516
