NEW QUESTION: 2 HOTSPOT You have the following subqueries: Subquery1, Subquery2, and Subquery3. You need to replace the three subqueries with named result sets or temporary tables. The following requirements must be met: Which replacement techniques should you use? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.Answer: Explanation: Subquery1: common table expression (CTE) A common table expression (CTE) can be thought of as a temporary result set that is defined within the execution scope of a single SELECT, INSERT, UPDATE, DELETE, or CREATE VIEW statement. A CTE is similar to a derived table in that it is not stored as an object and lasts only for the duration of the query. Unlike a derived table, a CTE can be self-referencing and can be referenced multiple times in the same query. Subquery2: global temporary table Global temporary tables are visible to any user and any connection after they are created, and are deleted when all users that are referencing the table disconnect from the instance of SQL Server. Subquery3: local temporary table Local temporary tables are visible only to their creators during the same connection to an instance of SQL Server as when the tables were first created or referenced. Local temporary tables are deleted after the user disconnects from the instance of SQL Server. References:

NEW QUESTION: 3 The advanced directive in a client's chart is dated August 12, 1998. The client's daughter produces a Power of Attorney for Health Care, dated 2003, which contains different care direction(s). The nurse is supposed to: A. follow the 1998 version because it's part of the legal chart. B. follow the 1998 version because the physician's code order is based on it. C. follow the 2003 version, place it in the chart, and communicate the update appropriately. D. follow neither until clarified by the unit manager. Answer: C Explanation: The document dated 2003 supersedes the previous version and should be used as a basis for care direction. Choices 1 and 2 are incorrect because the 1998 version is now outdated. Choice 4 is incorrect because the nurse can be held negligent for not responding to the 2003 document as directed.
