In the Azure portal, select All services. In the list of resources, type Log Analytics. As you begin typing, the list filters based on your input. Select Log Analytics workspaces.2. Select Create, and then select choices for the following items:3. After providing the required information on the Log Analytics workspace pane, select OK.While the information is verified and the workspace is created, you can track its progress under Notifications from the menu.Step 2: Enable the Log Analytics VM Extension Installing the Log Analytics VM extension for Windows and Linux allows Azure Monitor to collect data from your Azure VMs.1. In the Azure portal, select All services found in the upper left-hand corner. In the list of resources, type Log Analytics. As you begin typing, the list filters based on your input. Select Log Analytics workspaces.2. In your list of Log Analytics workspaces, select DefaultWorkspace (the name you created in step 1).3. On the left-hand menu, under Workspace Data Sources, select Virtual machines.4. In the list of Virtual machines, select a virtual machine you want to install the agent on. Notice that the Log Analytics connection status for the VM indicates that it is Not connected.5. In the details for your virtual machine, select Connect. The agent is automatically installed and configured for your Log Analytics workspace. This process takes a few minutes, during which time the Status shows Connecting.After you install and connect the agent, the Log Analytics connection status will be updated with This workspace.

NEW QUESTION: 3 You have an application hosted in AWS. This application was created using Cloudformation Templates and Autoscaling. Now your application has got a surge of users which is decreasing the performance of the application. As per your analysis, a change in the instance type to C3 would resolve the issue. Which of the below option can introduce this change while minimizing downtime for end users?A. Copy the old launch configuration, and create a new launch configuration with the C3 instances. Update the Auto Scalinggroup with the new launch configuration. Auto Scaling will then update the instance type of all running instances.B. Update the AWS CloudFormation template that contains the launch configuration with the new C3 instance type. Run a stack update with the updated template, and Auto Scaling will then update the instances one at a time with the new instance type.C. Update the launch configuration in the AWS CloudFormation template with the new C3 instance type.Add an UpdatePolicy attribute to the Auto Scaling group that specifies an AutoScalingRollingUpdate. Run a stack update with the updated template.D. Update the existing launch configuration with the new C3 instance type. Add an UpdatePolicy attribute to your Auto Scalinggroup that specifies an AutoScaling RollingUpdate in order to avoid downtime.Answer: CExplanation: ExplanationEnsure first that the cloudformation template is updated with the new instance type.The AWS::AutoScaling::AutoScalingGroup resource supports an UpdatePolicy attribute. This is used to define how an Auto Scalinggroup resource is updated when an update to the Cloud Formation stack occurs. A common approach to updating an Auto Scaling group is to perform a rolling update, which is done by specifying the AutoScalingRollingUpdate policy. This retains the same Auto Scaling group and replaces old instances with new ones, according to the parameters specified.Option A is invalid because this will cause an interruption to the users. Option C is partially correct, but it does not have all the steps as mentioned in option B.Option D is partially correct, but we need the AutoScalingRollingUpdate attribute to ensure a rolling update is peformed.For more information on AutoScaling Rolling updates please refer to the below link:*
