NEW QUESTION: 3Like OSPFv2, OSPFv3 supports virtual links. Which two statements are true about the IPv6 address of a virtual neighbor? (Choose two.)A. Only prefixes with the LA-bit not set can be used as a virtual neighbor address.B. It is the link-local address, and it is discovered by examining link LSA received by the virtual neighbor.C. It is the global scope address, and it is discovered by examining the router LSAs received by the virtual neighbor.D. It is the global scope address, and it is discovered by examining the intra-area-prefix-LSAs received by the virtual neighbor.E. It is the link-local address, and it is discovered by examining the hello packets received from the virtual neighbor.F. Only prefixes with the LA-bit set can be used as a virtual neighbor address.Answer: D,F
Explanation:OSPF for IPv6 assumes that each router has been assigned link-local unicast addresses on each of the router's attached physical links. On all OSPF interfaces except virtual links, OSPF packets are sent using the interface's associated link-local unicast address as the source address. A router learns the link-local addresses of all other routers attached to its links and uses these addresses as next-hop information during packet forwarding. On virtual links, a global scope IPv6 address MUST be used as the source address for OSPF protocol packets.The collection of intra-area-prefix-LSAs originated by the virtual neighbor is examined, with the virtual neighbor's IP address being set to the first prefix encountered with the LA-bit set.Reference: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc5340>

NEW QUESTION: 4Which of the following is an indicator of interpersonal skills that are necessary for members of a team? I. Routinely keeps superiors, team members, and other appropriate parties informed of significant developments. II. Spends sufficient time cultivating contacts with peers to obtain timely information or resolve issues outside formal channels. III. Routinely assumes an appropriate amount of work or responsibility for group projects. A. I, II, and III. B. II and III only. C. I only. D. I and II only. Answer: D Explanation: Building trust is central to team effectiveness. Individuals build trust through use of interpersonal skills that include interaction, cooperation, and ability to deal with other people. Thus, trust is built through timely and accurate communication; supportive behavior; showing respect, e.g., by delegation and effective listening; fairness of evaluations; predictability of behavior and promise-keeping; and competence exemplified by sound judgment and technical proficiency. Thus, a trusted team member routinely keeps superiors, team members, and other appropriate parties informed of significant developments. S)he also spends sufficient time cultivating contacts with peers to obtain timely information or resolve issues outside formal channels. However, routinely assuming an appropriate amount of work or responsibility for group projects is indicative of team participation, not of the interpersonal skills required of team members.
