NEW QUESTION: 1Users are encouraged to click on a link in an email to obtain exclusive access to the newest version of a popular Smartphone. This is an example of.A. TrustB. FamiliarityC. IntimidationD. Scarcity*Answer: D*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Scarcity, in the area of social psychology, works much like scarcity in the area of economics. Simply put, humans place a higher value on an object that is scarce, and a lower value on those that are abundant.The thought that we, as humans, want something we cannot have, drives us to desire the object even more. This idea is deeply embedded in the intensely popular, "Black Friday" shopping extravaganza thatU.S. consumers participate in every year on the day after Thanksgiving. More than getting a bargain on a hot gift idea, shoppers thrive on the competition itself, in obtaining the scarce product.In this question, people want the brand new latest version of a smartphone. The temptation of being one of the first to get the new phone will tempt people into clicking the link in the email.

(B) Narcotics are administered for acute pain as necessary. They are not necessarily given on return of the client to her room.(C) The most serious postthyroidectomy complication is ineffective airway and breathing pattern related to tracheal compression and edema. A tracheostomy set, O2, and suction should be available at bedside for at least the first 24 hours postoperatively.
