NEW QUESTION: 2Where should the passive-interface command be used?A. under the interface configuration for interfaces that need to be routed, but prevented from peeringB. under the VTY configuration within global configuration modeC. under the interface configuration for interfaces that need to be routed and allowed to peerD. under the routing process for interfaces that need to be routed and allowed to peerE. Under the routing process for interfaces that need to be routed, but prevented from peeringAnswer: E*Explanation: Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Passive-interface is a feature you enable on a per interface basis which allows a particular interface to participate in a routing process but prevents that interface from forming neighbor relationships by not sending hello packets and discarding received hello packets.

NEW QUESTION: 3What are the two default metrics used by EIGRP for route selection? (Choose two.)A. MTUB. LoadC. ReliabilityD. DelayE. BandwidthAnswer: D, E*Explanation: Explanation/Reference:Explanation:EIGRP adds together weighted values of different network link characteristics in order to calculate a metric for evaluating path selection. These characteristics include:Delay (measured in 10s of microseconds)Bandwidth (measured in kilobytes per second)Reliability (in numbers ranging from 1 to 255; 255 being the most reliable) Load (in numbers ranging from 1 to 255; 255 being saturated) Various constants (K 1 through K 5) are able to be set by a user to produce varying routing behaviors. However, by default, only delay and bandwidth are used in the weighted formula to produce a single 32bit metric:Note: Default K values are: K1 = K3 = 1 and K2 = K4 = K5 = 0. When K5 is equal to 0 then  $[K5 / (K4 + reliability)]$  is defined to be 1 Use of the default constants effectively reduces the formula above to:Reference: http://www.cisco.com/c/en/us/products/collateral/ios-nx-os-software/enhanced-interior-gate-way-routing-protocol-eigrp/whitepaper\_C11-720525.html
