The exception is routers whose Ethernet controllers only recognize a single MAC address (for example, the Lance controller on the Cisco 2500 and Cisco 4500 routers). These routers use the HSRP MAC address when they are the Active router, and their burned-in address when they are not. HSRP uses the following MAC address on all media except Token Ring: 0000.0c07.ac** (where ** is the HSRP group number)

root 15163 15156 0 12:51:15 pts/3 0:00 hungscript
What command will terminate the process?A. kill -2 15163B. kill -9 15163C. kill -1 15163D. kill -15 15163Answer: B*Explanation:Here we should use SIGTERM to terminate the process. Note: When no signal is included in the kill command-line syntax, the default signal that is used is -15 (SIGKILL). Using the -9 signal (SIGTERM) with the kill command ensures that the process terminates promptly. However, the -9 signal should not be used to kill certain processes, such as a database process, or an LDAP server process. The result is that data might be lost. Tip - When using the kill command to stop a process, first try using the command by itself, without including a signal option. Wait a few minutes to see if the process terminates before using the kill command with the -9 signal. Reference: Terminate the process
