<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc749183.aspx>Event SubscriptionsEvent Viewer enables you to view events on a single remote computer. However, troubleshooting an issue might require you to examine a set of events stored in multiple logs on multiple computers. Windows Vista includes the ability to collect copies of events from multiple remote computers and store them locally. To specify which events to collect, you create an event subscription. Among other details, the subscription specifies exactly which events will be collected and in which log they will be stored locally. Once a subscription is active and events are being collected, you can view and manipulate these forwarded events as you would any other locally stored events.Using the event collecting feature requires that you configure both the forwarding and the collecting computers. The functionality depends on the Windows Remote Management (WinRM) service and the Windows Event Collector (Wevc) service. Both of these services must be running on computers participating in the forwarding and collecting process. <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc961808.aspx>Replication Issues
