Answer: B

By convention, the implements clause follows the extends clause, if there is one. Here are the some point that must be considered while implementing an interface (or interfaces) into a java class. A class implementing an interface must either implement all the methods of that interface otherwise known as the abstract class. A class in java may extend at most one superclass because java does not allow multiple inheritance, by it may implement more than one interface. Multiple inheritance in java is achieved through the interfaces. When a class implements more than one interface then implement statement requires a comma-separated list of interfaces to be implement by that class.
