NEW QUESTION: 1A. Option CB. Option AC. Option DD. Option BAnswer: DExplanation:See here:

<http://blogs.virtualizationadmin.com/lowe/2011/01/12/hyper-v-and-dpm-watch-out-for-this/>If you're here, you already know you love virtualization so it's tempting to, as new services come on board, add them to the virtual environment. But, be careful when you consider adding Data Protection Manager as a virtual service.If you do, you lose the key ability to fully protect Hyper-V-based workloads using DPM's native Hyper-V hooks.The reason: In order to fully protect Hyper-V with DPM, the DPM server requires that the Hyper-V role be installed on it. You can't install the Hyper-V role inside a virtual guest due to lack of VT/AMD-V capability inside the VM.Hence, you're out of luck.Let's talk specifics: In short, although you can still protect Hyper-V with a virtual DPM server, on the recovery side, you lose the ability to perform item-level restoration of items from inside a virtual machine.You can still protect individual virtual machine workloads by installing the DPM agent inside the virtual machine's guest OS at which point DPM sees that VM as just another system to be protected.My advice: Just go physical if you're deploying DPM, especially if you need that native Hyper-V support.NOTE: The text below was copied from a duplicate question.In the event of disaster recovery, System Center Data Protection Manager (DPM) 2010 allows you to recover virtual machines as files to a network folder. You can then copy those files to an alternate Hyper-V host server. However, to start a virtual machine on an alternate Hyper-V host server, you have to manually create and configure the virtual machine using the recovered files.DPM 2010 supports alternate location recovery (ALR), which allows you to recover a Hyper-V virtual machine to an alternate stand-alone Hyper-V host or to a cluster. The recovered virtual machine is already registered and configured on an alternate Hyper-V host server.<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/ff634209.aspx> In a virtualized environment the issue is whether to backup from inside the guest or from the host. The latter provides "bare metal restore" of an entire VM where something's gone catastrophically wrong with a VM (or the host) but in general it doesn't provide granular restore of files / folders. DPM 2010 added Item Level Restore (ILR), allowing you to restore individual files or folders within a VM even though it had only been backed up from the host. But this capability was only available when DPM 2010 ran on physical hardware, if the DPM server itself was in a VM this capability was not available. DPM 2012 fixes this glitch and can now do ILR even when the DPM server is a VM.

NEW QUESTION: 2When creating your rules, you have used the attribute "the gun fired accidentally". When adding this input to a screen, you notice that the question form of this attribute is "Is the gun fired accidentally true?". In which way should you resolve this issue to ensure that the word "true" is not included in any text shown to the interview user (including explanations)?A. Remove the word "accidentally" from the attribute text.B. Create a custom attribute text in the Edit Attribute dialog box.C. Change the question text on the screen.D. Add the verb "to fire".E. Add the verb "to fire" and change the attribute sentence forms in the Edit Attribute dialog box.Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3Regarding the method and logic of thin AP P data forwarding, which of the following statements are correct? (Multiple choice)A. In the option43 mode of layer three registration, the AP will first send a broadcast discovery message after obtaining an IP address, and will try to send a unicast discovery request message when it does not receive the corresponding AC.B. If you manually configure the AC's IP address directly on the AP, you can also complete the three-layer registration. However, this method requires initial configuration and is troublesome to implement, so it is not recommended.C. In the three-layer registration Option43 mode, after the AP obtains the IP address, it will directly send a Discovery unicast discovery request message to the AC address specified by Option43D. In DNS mode, you only need to specify the relevant domain name on the DNS server to map to the AC IP address, and no special configuration by the DHCP server is required.Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION: 4Refer to the exhibit. What two statements are true? (Choose two.)A. This is the designated router (DR) on the FastEthernet 0/0 link.B. The output was generated by the show ip interface command.C. The router was configured with the commands: router ospf 1 network 172.16.6.0 0.0.0.255 area 1D. OSPF version 2 has been enabled to support IPv6.E. Interface FastEthernet 0/0 was configured with the ipv6 ospf 1 area 1 command.F. The IP address of the backup designated router (BDR) is FE80::205:5FFF:FED3:5808.Answer: E,F
Explanation:OSPFv3 supports IPv6. The configuration of OSPFv3 is not a subcommand mode of the router ospf command as it is in OSPFv2 configuration. For example, instead of using the network area command to identify networks that are part of the OSPFv3 network, the interfaces are directly configured to specify that IPv6 networks are part of the OSPFv3 network. The following describes the steps to configure OSPF for IPv6:There are several commonly used OSPFv3 show commands, including the show ipv6 ospf [process-id][area-id] interfacee [interface] command.
