NEW QUESTION: 1 Although host-based and network-based IDSs perform similar functions and have similar capabilities, which of the following is an advantage of a network-based IDS over a host-based IDS, assuming all capabilities are equal? A. Network access B. Scalability C. Segregated from host systems D. External to system patching Answer: C Explanation: A network-based IDS has the advantage of being segregated from host systems, and as such, it would not be open to compromise in the same manner a host-based system would be. Although a network-based IDS would be external to system patching, this is not the best answer here because it is a minor concern compared to segregation due to possible host compromise. Scalability is also not the best answer because, although a network-based IDS does remove processing from the host system, it is not a primary security concern. Network access is not a consideration because both a host-based IDS and a network-based IDS would have access to network resources.

NEW QUESTION: 2 View the Exhibit and examine the structure of the PRODUCTS table. You want to display only those product names with their list prices where the list price is at least double the minimum price. The report should start with the product name having the maximum list price satisfying this condition. Evaluate the following SQL statement: `SQL>SELECT prod_name, prod_list_price FROM products WHERE prod_list_price >= 2 * prod_min_price` Which ORDER BY clauses can be added to the above SQL statement to get the correct output? (Choose all that apply.) A. ORDER BY prod_list_price DESC, prod_name; B. ORDER BY prod_list_price DESC, prod_name DESC; C. ORDER BY prod_name, (2*prod_min_price) DESC; D. ORDER BY (2*prod_min_price) DESC, prod_name; E. ORDER BY prod_name DESC, prod_list_price DESC; Answer: A, B Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Using the ORDER BY Clause The order of rows that are returned in a query result is undefined. The ORDER BY clause can be used to sort the rows. However, if you use the ORDER BY clause, it must be the last clause of the SQL statement. Further, you can specify an expression, an alias, or a column position as the sort condition. Syntax `SELECT expr FROM table [WHERE condition(s)] [ORDER BY {column, expr, numeric_position} [ASC|DESC]]`; In the syntax: ORDER BY specifies the order in which the retrieved rows are displayed. ASC orders the rows in ascending order (This is the default order.) DESC orders the rows in descending order. If the ORDER BY clause is not used, the sort order is undefined, and the Oracle server may not fetch rows in the same order for the same query twice. Use the ORDER BY clause to display the rows in a specific order. Note: Use the keywords NULLS FIRST or NULLS LAST to specify whether returned rows containing null values should appear first or last in the ordering sequence.
