NEW QUESTION: 1You are designing a solution that will interact with non-Windows applications over unreliable network connections. You have a security token for each non-Windows application. You need to ensure that non-Windows applications retrieve messages from the solution. Where should you retrieve messages?
A. An Azure blob storage container that has a private access policy
B. An Azure Queue
C. Azure Table storage
D. The Azure Service Bus Queue
Answer: D
Explanation: Any Microsoft or non-Microsoft applications can use a Service Bus REST API to manage and access messaging entities over HTTPS. By using REST applications based on non-Microsoft technologies (e.g. Java, Ruby, etc.) are allowed not only to send and receive messages from the Service Bus, but also to create or delete queues, topics and subscription in a given namespace.: Service Bus Explorer

NEW QUESTION: 2Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains multiple servers that run multiple applications. Domain user accounts are used to authenticate access requests to the servers. You plan to prevent NTLM from being used to authenticate to the servers. You start to audit NTLM authentication events for the domain. You need to view all of the NTLM authentication events and to identify which applications authenticate by using NTLM. On which computers should you review the event logs and which logs should you review? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.
Answer:
Explanation: Do not confuse this with event ID 4776 recorded on domain controller's security event log!!! This question asks for implementing NTLM auditing when domain clients is connecting to member servers! See below for further information.
<https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/windows/device-security/security-policy-settings/network-security-restrict-ntlm> Via lab testing, most of the NTLM audit logs are created on Windows 10 clients, except that you use Windows Server 2016 OS as clients (but this is unusual)

NEW QUESTION: 3Which three processes are best suited for UML? (Choose three.)
