NEW QUESTION: 1On which OSI layers do standard ACL filters operate?A. 3 and 4*B. 2 and 3*C. 4 and 7*D. 2 and 7*Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2What two mechanisms are used to improve both MPLS network performance and availability? (Choose two)A. Stateful switchover*B. Stateful switchover with NSRC*C. LDP and BGP synchronization*D. BGP timer tuning*E. Stateful switchover with fast Reroute*Answer: C,E*Explanation:One version shows D/E as the answers Fast Reroute (FRR) is a mechanism for protecting MPLS TE LSPs from link and node failures by locally repairing the LSPs at the point of failure, allowing data to continue to flow on them while their headend routers try to establish new end-to-end LSPs to replace them. FRR locally repairs the protected LSPs by rerouting them over backup tunnels that bypass failed links or node. Packet loss can occur because the actions of the IGP and LDP are not synchronized. Packet loss can occur in the following situations:When an IGP adjacency is established, the router begins forwarding packets using the new adjacency before the LDP label exchange completes between the peers on that link.If an LDP session closes, the router continues to forward traffic using the link that is associated with the LDP peer rather than an alternate pathway with a fully synchronized LDP session. The MPLS LDP-IGP Synchronization feature does the following:Provides a means to synchronize LDP and IGPs to minimize Multiprotocol Label Switching (MPLS) packet loss. Enables you to globally enable LDP-IGP synchronization on each interface that is associated with an IGP OSPF or IS-IS process.Provides a means to disable LDP-IGP synchronization on interfaces that you do not want enabled.Prevents MPLS packet loss due to synchronization conflicts.Works when LDP is enabled on interfaces using either the mpls ip or mpls ldp autoconfig command. To enable LDP-IGP synchronization on each interface that belongs to an OSPF or IS-IS process, enter the mpls ldp sync command. If you do not want some of the interfaces to have LDP-IGP synchronization enabled, issue the no mpls ldp igp sync command on those interfaces. If the LDP peer is reachable, the IGP waits indefinitely (by default) for synchronization to be achieved. To limit the length of time the IGP session must wait, enter the `mpls ldp igp sync holddown` command. If the LDP peer is not reachable, the IGP establishes the adjacency to enable the LDP session to be established. When an IGP adjacency is established on a link but LDP-IGP synchronization is not yet achieved or is lost, the IGP advertises the max-metric on that link.

NEW QUESTION: 3 What is the MOST important reason for conducting security awareness programs throughout an organization?
A. Reducing the human risk
B. Informing business units about the security strategy
C. Maintaining evidence of training records to ensure compliance
D. Training personnel in security incident response
Answer: A
Explanation: People are the weakest link in security implementation, and awareness would reduce this risk. Through security awareness and training programs, individual employees can be informed and sensitized on various security policies and other security topics, thus ensuring compliance from each individual. Laws and regulations also aim to reduce human risk. Informing business units about the security strategy is best done through steering committee meetings or other forums.

NEW QUESTION: 4 CORRECT TEXT How are Quotas defined in Salesforce?
Answer: Explanation: Users with the appropriate permission can set their individual quota. Administrators and users with the appropriate permission can always edit any quota, and managers can always change the quotas of users that report directly to them in the role hierarchy.
