You set up the test environment and replay the captured workload from the production database on the test machine twice with a time difference of four hours. For which three reasons would you use the Compare Period ADDM report after the replay? (Choose three.)A. to review the change in the initialization parameters between the two runsB. to compare the performance change of top SQL statements for the two runsC. to find the resource consumption by SQL statements that are common to both periodsD. to check the performance improvement and degradation caused during the changeE. to review the hardware resources used during the two runsF. to check the database time consumed for the two time periodsAnswer: C,D,E

NEW QUESTION: 2A video engineer configured Cisco TMS to allow conference scheduling. The engineer set the Default Reservation Type for Scheduled Calls to Automatic Connect. Which option describes what this action accomplished?A. Conferences are automatically started at the scheduled time.B. Calls are set up and launched by the organizer.C. WebEx invites for conferencing are sent automatically.D. No conference resources are scheduled until a Cisco TelePresence form is selected.Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3Note: This question is part of a series of questions that use the same scenario. For your convenience, the scenario is repeated in each question. Each question presents a different goal and answer choices, but the text of the scenario is exactly the same in each question in this series. You have five servers that run Microsoft Windows 2012 R2. Each server hosts a Microsoft SQL Server instance. The topology for the environment is shown in the following diagram. You have an Always On Availability group named AG1. The details for AG1 are shown in the following table. Instance1 experiences heavy read-write traffic. The instance hosts a database named OperationsMain that is four terabytes (TB) in size. The database has multiple data files and filegroups. One of the filegroups is read_only and is half of the total database size. Instance4 and Instance5 are not part of AG1. Instance4 is engaged in heavy read-write I/O.

Instance5 hosts a database named StagedExternal. A nightly BULK INSERT process loads data into an empty table that has a rowstore clustered index and two nonclustered rowstore indexes. You must minimize the growth of the StagedExternal database log file during the BULK INSERT operations and perform point-in-time recovery after the BULK INSERT transaction. Changes made must not interrupt the log backup chain. You plan to add a new instance named Instance6 to a datacenter that is geographically distant from Site1 and Site2. You must minimize latency between the nodes in AG1. All databases use the full recovery model. All backups are written to the network location \SQLBackup. A separate process copies backups to an offsite location. You should minimize both the time required to restore the databases and the space required to store backups. The recovery point objective (RPO) for each instance is shown in the following table. Full backups of OperationsMain take longer than six hours to complete. All SQL Server backups use the keyword COMPRESSION. You plan to deploy the following solutions to the environment. The solutions will access a database named DB1 that is part of AG1.

- * Reporting system: This solution accesses data in DB1 with a login that is mapped to a database user that is a member of the db_datareader role. The user has EXECUTE permissions on the database. Queries make no changes to the data. The queries must be load balanced over variable read-only replicas.
- * Operations system: This solution accesses data in DB1 with a login that is mapped to a database user that is a member of the db_datareader and db_datawriter roles. The user has EXECUTE permissions on the database. Queries from the operations system will perform both DDL and DML operations. The wait statistics monitoring requirements for the instances are described in the following table. You need to propose a new process for the StagedExternal database. Which five actions should you recommended be performed in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.

Answer: Explanation: Explanation From scenario: Instance5 hosts a database named StagedExternal. A nightly BULK INSERT process loads data into an empty table that has a rowstore clustered index and two nonclustered rowstore indexes. You must minimize the growth of the StagedExternal database log file during the BULK INSERT operations and perform point-in-time recovery after the BULK INSERT transaction. Changes made must not interrupt the log backup chain. All databases use the full recovery model.
