You can enable the Resource Governor by using either SQL Server Management Studio or Transact-SQL. Step 2: Create a resource pool. In the SQL Server Resource Governor, a resource pool represents a subset of the physical resources of an instance of the Database Engine. Step 3: Create a workload group In the SQL Server Resource Governor, a workload group serves as a container for session requests that have similar classification criteria. A workload allows for aggregate monitoring of the sessions, and defines policies for the sessions. Each workload group is in a resource pool, which represents a subset of the physical resources of an instance of the Database Engine. When a session is started, the Resource Governor classifier assigns the session to a specific workload group, and the session must run using the policies assigned to the workload group and the resources defined for the resource pool. Step 4: Write a classifier function. The SQL Server resource governor classification process assigns incoming sessions to a workload group based on the characteristics of the session. You can tailor the classification logic by writing a user-defined function, called a classifier function.
