NEW QUESTION: 2 You need to create an exclusion for two helpdesk RBAC (Role Based Access Control) groups to not have access to managers.You will need to pick 3 powershell commands from the available choicesA. Unsure of commands and correct answerB. New-ManagementScope, New-ManagementRoleAssignment, CustomRecipientWriteScope (Guessed)C. New-ManagementRole, New-ManagementScope,Set-ManagementScope (Guessed)D. New-ManagementScope, RecipientRestrictionFilter ,New-ManagementRoleAssignment (Guessed)Answer: AExplanation:COURTESY OF DNS53 FROM UNITED STATES AND OCEAN FROM UNITED STATES Management Role Scope Management role scopes enable you to define the specific scope of impact or influence of a management role when a management role assignment is created.When you apply a scope, the role assignee assigned to the role can only modify the objects contained within that scope.A role assignee can be a management role group, management role, management role assignment policy, user, or universal security group (USG). For more information about management roles, see Understanding Role Based Access Control.Every management role, whether it's a built-in role or a custom role, has management scopes. Management scopes can be either of the following:Regular A regular scope isn't exclusive. It determines where, in Active Directory, objects can be viewed or modified by users assigned the management role. In general, a management role indicates what you can create or modify, and a management role scope indicates where you can create or modify. Regular scopes can be either implicit or explicit scopes, both of which are discussed later in this topic. Exclusive An exclusive scope behaves almost the same as a regular scope. The key difference is that it enables you to deny users access to objects contained within the exclusive scope if those users aren't assigned a role associated with the exclusive scope. All exclusive scopes are explicit scopes, which are discussed later in this topic.Scopes can be inherited from the management role, specified as a predefined relative scope on a management role assignment, or created using custom filters and added to a management role assignment.Scopes inherited from management roles are called implicit scopes while predefined and custom scopes are called explicit scopes. The following sections describe each type of scope:Implicit Scopes Explicit Scopes Predefined

Relative Scopes Custom Scopes Recipient Filter Scopes Configuration Scopes Each role can have the following types of scopes:Recipient read scope The implicit recipient read scope determines what recipient objects the user assigned the management role is allowed to read from Active Directory.Recipient write scope The implicit recipient write scope determines what recipient objects the user assigned the management role is allowed to modify in Active Directory.Configuration read scope The implicit configuration read scope determines what configuration objects the user assigned the management role is allowed to read from Active Directory.Configuration write scope The implicit configuration write scope determines what organizational, database, and server objects the user assigned the management role is allowed to modify in Active Directory.Recipient objects include mailboxes, distribution groups, mail enabled users, and other objects. Configuration objects include servers running Microsoft Exchange Server 2013, and databases located on servers running Exchange. Each type of scope can be either an implicit scope or explicit scope.Role Based Access Control Groups Role Based Access Control (RBAC) is the permissions model used in Microsoft Exchange Server 2013. With RBAC, you don't need to modify and manage access control lists (ACLs), which was done in Exchange Server 2007.ACLs created several challenges in Exchange 2007, such as modifying ACLs without causing unintended consequences, maintaining ACL modifications through upgrades, and troubleshooting problems that occurred due to using ACLs in a nonstandard way.RBAC enables you to control, at both broad and granular levels, what administrators and end-users can do.RBAC also enables you to more closely align the roles you assign users and administrators to the actual roles they hold within your organization. In Exchange 2007, the server permissions model applied only to the administrators who managed the Exchange 2007 infrastructure. In Exchange 2013, RBAC now controls both the administrative tasks that can be performed and the extent to which users can now administer their own mailbox and distribution groups.RBAC has two primary ways of assigning permissions to users in your organization, depending on whether the user is an administrator or specialist user, or an end-user: management role groups and management role assignment policies.Each method associates users with the permissions they need to perform their jobs. A third, more advanced method, direct user role assignment, can also be usedBuilt-in Role Groups Microsoft Exchange Server 2013 includes several management role groups by default. The following built-in role groups provide you with a preconfigured set of roles that you can assign to various administrator and specialist users in your organization. Organization Management View-Only Organization Management Recipient Management UM Management Help Desk Hygiene Management Compliance Management Records Management Discovery Management Public Folder Management Server Management Delegated Setup How to use -Exclude switch in Remove-Item cmdlet in PowerShell today i was trying to remove some junk folders and files in a specific folder. But i don't want to remove all of file and folder , i want to keep few folders. Then i think that i should use the -Exclude switch with Remove-Item Cmdlet. I tried to use -Exclude switch but somehow i failed to get it working because i don't know the exact patter used by -Exclude switch. After few minutes of testing i get it done and i thought i should share this tip with you. $Lenovo = "D:P-TempLenovo*" Remove-Item -Recurse -Path $Lenovo -Exclude system,temp,updates.ser,"*.xml" -Verbose -Force In $Lenovo variable i specified the folder path in which I want to remove the items I want to Exclude folder name "System","temp" and file name "updates.ser" and all .XML Files in -Exclude switch give the folder name which you don't want to delete, no need to put the in a double quotes "" in folder name . You can provide multiple folder name separated by comma. in pattern matching make sure you put the wild cards in double quotes "". New-ManagementScope (Example) http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/dd335137(v=exchg.150).aspxEXAMPLE 4 This example creates the Protected Exec Users exclusive scope. Users that contain the string "VP" in their title match the recipient filter for the scope. When the exclusive scope is created, all users are immediately blocked from modifying the recipients that match the exclusive scope until the scope is associated with a management role assignment. If other role assignments are associated with other exclusive scopes that match the same recipients, those assignments can still modify the recipients. New-ManagementScope -Name "Protected Exec Users" -RecipientRestrictionFilter { Title Like "VP" } Exclusive The exclusive scope is then associated with a management role assignment that assignsthe Mail Recipients management role to the Executive Administrators role group. This rolegroup contains administrators who are allowed to modify the mailboxes of high-profileexecutives. Only the administrators of the Executive Administrators role group can modifyusers with the string "VP" in their title. New-ManagementRoleAssignment -SecurityGroup "Executive Administrators" -Role "Mail Recipients" - CustomRecipientWriteScope "Protected Exec Users" FORUM 70-341Ocean from Netherlands - Aug 11 2013, 3:21 PM Report Spam Hi DNS53As for the questionYou need to create an exclusion for two helpdesk RBAC groups to not have access to managers. answer: You will need to pick 3 powershell commands from the available choicesLook here:Understanding Management Role Scopes http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/dd335146(v=exchg.150).aspxAs we need to set deny access we want to set explicit recipcient filter scope for the existinghelpdesk group, removing the managers from the scope. Then create a new RBAC groupand implicit scope the managers mailboxes. So my guess would be something like New-ManagementRole -Name "Management role for CEO"New-ManagementScope -Name "Management Scope for CEO" -RecipientRestrictionFilter {Title -Like "CEO"} -ExclusiveSet-ManagementScope "Helpdesk Users" -RecipientRestrictionFilter { Company -eq 'Contoso users' -and Function -like 'CEO'As we do not know what RBAC setup already exists, this kind of smells like Microsoft, but hey this is a start.New-ManagementRole Use the New-ManagementRoleAssignment cmdlet to assign a management role to a management role group, management role assignment policy, user, or universal security group (USG). EXAMPLE 1This example assigns the Mail Recipients role to the Tier 2 Help Desk role group.New-ManagementRoleAssignment -Role "Mail Recipients" -SecurityGroup "Tier 2 Help Desk"
