NEW QUESTION: 3A global media organization is working on a project which lets users upload their videos on their site. After upload is complete, the video should be automatically processed by an Al algorithm. The algorithm will try to recognize actions in the videos so that it can be used to show related advertisements in future. The development team wants to focus on writing Al code and don't want to worry about underlying infrastructure for high-availability, scalability, security and monitoring.Which OCI services should you recommend for this project?
A. Use Object Storage for storing videos, OCI Events service and OCI FunctionsB. Use Oracle Container Engine for Kubernetes (OKE) for deployment of Al Code, OCI Notifications and Object StorageC. Use OCI Events service for triggering automatic processing of video, Oracle Container Engine for Kubernetes (OKE) and OCI Digital AssistantD. Use OCI Resource Manager to manage the underlying infrastructure, OCI Functions and OCI Events service.Answer: AExplanation: Oracle Functions is a fully managed, multi-tenant, highly scalable, on-demand, Functions-as-a-Service platform. It is built on enterprise-grade Oracle Cloud Infrastructure and powered by the Fn Project open source engine. Use Oracle Functions (sometimes abbreviated to just Functions) when you want to focus on writing code to meet business needs.The serverless and elastic architecture of Oracle Functions means there's no infrastructure administration or software administration for you to perform. You don't provision or maintain compute instances, and operating system software patches and upgrades are applied automatically. Oracle Functions simply ensures your app is highly-available, scalable, secure, and monitored. With Oracle Functions, you can write code in Java, Python, Node, Go, and Ruby (and for advanced use cases, bring your own Dockerfile, and Graal VM). You can then deploy your code, call it directly or trigger it in response to events, and get billed only for the resources consumed during the execution.You can create automation based on state changes for your Oracle Cloud Infrastructure resources by using event types, rules, and actions. When the function is executing inside the container, the function can read from and write to other resources and services running in the same subnet (for example, Database as a Service). The function can also read from and write to other shared resources (for example, Object Storage), and other Oracle Cloud Services.
