Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3Refer to the exhibit. Which statement about this device configuration is true?

A. The device will allow anyone to poll it via the public community. B. The device configuration requires the AuthNoPriv security level. C. The ifIndex of the device could be different when the device is reloaded. D. The NMS needs a specific route configured to enable it to reach the Loopback0 interface of the device. Answer: C Explanation: One of the most commonly used identifiers in SNMP-based network management applications is the Interface Index (ifIndex) value. IfIndex is a unique identifying number associated with a physical or logical interface. For most software, the ifIndex is the name of the interface. Although relevant RFCs do not require that the correspondence between particular ifIndex values and their interfaces be maintained across reboots, applications such as device inventory, billing, and fault detection depend on this correspondence. Consider a situation where a simple monitoring software (like MRTG) is polling the interface statistics of the router specific serial interface going to the internet. As an example, you could have these conditions prior to re-initialization: physical port ifIndex ethernet port 1 tokenring port 2 serial port 3 Therefore, the management application is polling the ifIndex 3, which corresponds to the serial port. After the router re-initialization (reboot, reload and so on) the conditions change to something similar to this: physical port ifIndex ethernet port 3 tokenring port 1 serial port 2 The management application continues polling the ifIndex 3, which corresponds now to the ethernet port. Therefore, if the management application is not warned by a trap, for example, that the router has been rebooted, the statistics polled could be completely wrong. Reference:

NEW QUESTION: 4 You have setup a shared VPC and you have created three projects; Host Project, Service Project-1 and Service Project-2. You have created two subnets, subnet-1 in us-west1 and subnet-2 in us-central1 in the Host Project. Only subnet-1 has been shared with Service Project -1 but when you go to VPC networks in Service Project-1 you also see subnet-2 which hasn't been shared with Service Project-1. Please select the correct option from below why is subnet-2 available to Service Project-1. Note Host Project is the Host Project in the shared VPC, Service Project-1 and Service project-2 are the Service Projects in the shared VPC.
A. It is a bug in Google Cloud, please report it.B. The current user has Shared VPC Admin role and with Shared VPC Admin role all the networks are available.C. Remove Shared Network admin role to the current user.D. By default all subnets are available.Answer: B
Explanation: Option A is the Correct choice because , if the current user has Shared VPC Admin role then all the networks in the shared VPC is the available to the user irrespective of subnet level sharing permission with the Service Projects.Option B is Incorrect because , it is not a bug .Option C is Incorrect because ,all the subnets would be available if the current user has Shared Admin role. Option D is Incorrect because ,Shared Network Admin role doesn't exist.
