NEW QUESTION: 1 Welche Eingaben in den Prozess "Stakeholder-Engagement verwalten" werden verwendet, um Änderungen zu dokumentieren, die während des Projekts auftreten? A. Expertenurteil B. Protokoll ändern C. Problemprotokoll D. Änderungsanforderungen Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which dependent object will get invalidated even if it is not affected by the table redefinition? A. triggers B. views C. synonyms D. packages Answer: A
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Results of the Redefinition Process The following are the end results of the redefinition process: The original table is redefined with the columns, indexes, constraints, grants, triggers, and statistics of the interim table. Dependent objects that were registered, either explicitly using REGISTER_DEPENDENT_OBJECT or implicitly using COPY_TABLE_DEPENDENTS, are renamed automatically so that dependent object names on the redefined table are the same as before redefinition. Note: If no registration is done or no automatic copying is done, then you must manually rename the dependent objects. The referential constraints involving the interim table now involve the redefined table and are enabled. Any indexes, triggers, materialized view logs, grants, and constraints defined on the original table (prior to redefinition) are transferred to the interim table and are dropped when the user drops the interim table. Any referential constraints involving the original table before the redefinition now involve the interim table and are disabled. Some PL/SQL objects, views, synonyms, and other table-dependent objects may become invalidated. Only those objects that depend on elements of the table that were changed are invalidated. For example, if a PL/SQL procedure queries only columns of the redefined table that were unchanged by the redefinition, the procedure remains valid. See "Managing Object Dependencies" for more information about schema object dependencies.
