NEW QUESTION: 1A. Option AB. Option DC. Option CD. Option B
Answer: B
Explanation: Explanation Steganography is the process of hiding a message in another message so as to obfuscate its importance. It is also the process of hiding a message in a medium such as a digital image, audio file, or other file. In theory, doing this prevents analysts from detecting the real message. You could encode your message in another file or message and use that file to hide your message.

NEW QUESTION: 2Your network contains an Active Directory forest. The forest contains two sites named Site1 and Site2. Site1 contains 10 domain controllers. Site1 and Site2 connect to each other by using a WAN link. You run the Active Directory Domain Services Configuration Wizard as shown in the following graphic. Server3 is the only server in Site2. Use the drop-down menus to select the answer choice that completes each statement based on the information presented in the graphic.
Answer: Explanation: Explanation By selectively caching credentials, RODCs address some of the challenges that enterprises can encounter in branch offices and perimeter networks (also known as DMZs) that may lack the physical security that is commonly found in datacenters and hub sites.

NEW QUESTION: 3Which of the following is TRUE regarding Transmission Control Protocol (TCP) and User Datagram Protocol (UDP)?
A. UDP is useful for longer messages, rather than TCP.
B. UDP provides for Error Correction, TCP does not.
C. TCP is connection-oriented, UDP is not.
D. TCP does not guarantee delivery of data, while UDP does guarantee data delivery.
Answer: C
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: TCP is a reliable connection-oriented transport for guaranteed delivery of data. Protocols represent certain rules and regulations that are essential in order to have data communication between two entities. Internet Protocols work in sending and receiving data packets. This type of communication may be either connection-less or connection-oriented. In a connection-oriented scenario, an acknowledgement is being received by the sender from the receiver in support of a perfect transfer. Transmission Control Protocol or TCP is such a protocol. On the other hand, UDP or User Datagram Protocol is of the connection-less type where no feedback is being forwarded to the sender after delivery and the data transfer have taken place or not. Though, it's not a guaranteed method, but, once a connection is established, UDP works much faster than TCP as TCP has to rely on a feedback and accordingly, the entire 3-way handshaking takes place. The following answers are incorrect: UDP provides for Error Correction, TCP does not: UDP does not provide for error correction, while TCP does. UDP is useful for longer messages, rather than TCP: UDP is useful for shorter messages due to its connectionless nature. TCP does not guarantee delivery of data, while UDP does guarantee data delivery: The opposite is true.
