NEW QUESTION: 4 You have a computer that runs Windows 7. The computer contains two volumes, C and D. You create a new folder called D:Reports. You need to ensure that all files stored in the Reports folder are indexed by Windows Search. What should you do? A. Enable the archive attribute on the folder. B. Modify the Folder Options from Control Panel. C. Modify the properties of the Windows Search service. D. Create a new library and add the Reports folder to the library. Answer: D Explanation: Libraries enable you to organize files by using metadata about the file, such as author, date, type, tags, and so on-instantly. You're not limited to just browsing files by folder hierarchy. When you save files in a Library, Windows 7 indexes the files. You can use Library features like the Arrange By control to instantly browse the files in the Library by metadata or use the Search Builder, which is built into the Search box in Windows Explorer, to instantly search the files in the Library by metadata.
