NEW QUESTION: 2You began administering blood to a patient 45 minutes ago. You enter the room to assess the patient and find the patient flushed and dyspneic. On auscultation the patient has crackles in the bases of both lungs. What complication of blood transfusion therapy is the patient most likely experiencing?A. BacteremiaB. Fluid overloadC. Transfusion reactionD. HypovolemiaAnswer: BExplanation: The patient is displaying all the symptoms of fluid overload. If the patient were experiencing a transfusion reaction, there would also be itching and a rash. Bacteremia would lead to the patient having a fever. Fluid overload is the best answer due to the crackles in the lungs indicating fluid has become a problem.

NEW QUESTION: 3 A security analyst performs various types of vulnerability scans. Review the vulnerability scan results to determine the type of scan that was executed and if a false positive occurred for each device. Instructions: Select the Results Generated drop-down option to determine if the results were generated from a credentialed scan, non-credentialed scan, or a compliance scan. For ONLY the credentialed and non-credentialed scans, evaluate the results for false positives and check the findings that display false positives. NOTE: If you would like to uncheck an option that is currently selected, click on the option a second time. Lastly, based on the vulnerability scan results, identify the type of Server by dragging the Server to the results. The Linux Web Server, File-Print Server and Directory Server are draggable. If at any time you would like to bring back the initial state of the simulation, please select the Reset button. When you have completed the simulation, please select the Done button to submit. Once the simulation is submitted, please select the Next button to continue. Answer: Explanation:
