NEW QUESTION: 2The European Union Electronic Signature Directive of January, 2000,defines an advanced electronic signature. This signature must meetall of the following requirements except that:A. It must be created using means that are generally accessible andavailable.B. It must be capable of identifying the signatory.C. It must be uniquely linked to the signatory.D. It must be linked to the data to which it relates in such a manner that any subsequent change of the data is detectable.Answer: AExplanation:The Directive requires that the means be maintained under the solecontrol of the signatory. This requirement is a particularly difficult one to achieve. One approach is to use different tokens or smart cardsfor the different transactions involved. The other answers are typicalcharacteristics of digital signatures that can be implemented withpublic key cryptography.

NEW QUESTION: 3Answer: Explanation:Explanation

NEW QUESTION: 4You are developing an ASP.NET MVC application to be used on the Internet.

The environment does not use Active Directory. Users must be able to log on to the application to maintain their personal preferences. You need to use the least amount of development effort to enable users to log on. What should you do? A. Enable Windows authentication. B. Enable Digest authentication. C. Generate server SSL certificates and install them in IIS. D. Enable Forms authentication. Answer: D Explanation: Many Web applications require a way to restrict access to some resources (such as specific pages) so that those resources are accessible only to authenticated users. The default Web application project template for ASP.NET MVC provides a controller, data models, and views that you can use to add ASP.NET forms authentication to your application. The built-in functionality lets users register, log on and off, and change their password. For many applications, this functionality provides a sufficient level of user authentication. Incorrect: Not B: Windows authentication would require an Active Directory. Windows authentication method works only if the following two conditions exist: / You set up your network to use the Kerberos authentication protocol that requires Active Directory. / You set up the computers and accounts on your network as trusted for delegation.
