NEW QUESTION: 1An application developer is developing a project in Worklight Studio that has one adapter and a hybrid application that has Android and iPhone environments. When the application developer builds the application using the 'Build All environments' command, what are the complete set of artifacts created?
A. A .war file, a .adapter file and a .wlapp file for all environments.
B. A .war file, a .wlapp file for all environments, a .wlapp file for common resources, a .wlapp for each environment and a native project for the target platform of each environment.
C. A .war file, a .wlapp file for all environments and a .wlapp file for common resources.
D. A .wlapp file for all environments, a .wlapp file for common resources, a .wlapp for each environment and a native project for the target platform of each environment.
Answer: C
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: * A WAR file is created by Worklight Studio for every Worklight project, regardless of the number of apps it contains. * If you build an entire app, a file called app-name.wlapp is created, containing the code and resources of all environments that are supported by your app. For example: myApp-all.wlapp. * If you build an app only for specific environments, a file called app-name-env-version.wlapp is created per environment. For example: myApp-android-1.0.wlapp.
