NEW QUESTION: 2 You have an Exchange Server 2013 organization named adatum.com. The organization contains two servers named EX1 and EX2 that are configured as shown in the table. Both servers are members of a database availability group (DAG). EX1 has the active copy of a database named Database1. Several users who have mailboxes in Database1 discover that all of their outbound email messages remain in their Drafts folder when they use Outlook Web App. You need to ensure that the email messages are delivered. What should you do?
A. On EX2, retry the message queues.
B. On EX2, start the Microsoft Exchange Mailbox Transport Submission service.
C. On EX1, start the Microsoft Exchange Mailbox Transport Submission service.
D. On EX1, retry the message queues.
Answer: C
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: B: Resubmitting a queue is similar to retrying a queue, except the messages are sent back to the Submission queue for the categorizer to reprocess. Messages stay in the Drafts folder until they are successfully sent by being processed by the transport service. If the transport service is not running on any available server or the mailbox transport service is not running on the mailbox server that hosts the active database for the user's mailbox, items will stay in the Drafts folder until the services come online and Exchange is able to process outbound items.
