Graphics Design Institute recently purchased another company named Proseware, Inc. PLANNED CHANGES Graphics Design Institute plans to transition the internal IPv4 network to IPv6. IPv4 will be used to connect to the Internet. Only private IPv6 addresses will be used on the internal network. Graphics Design Institute plans to deploy a remote access solution for all client computers. Graphics Design Institute plans to deploy 10 public computers that run Windows Vista Service Pack 2 (SP2). All Windows Vista public computers will run an application named Appl. Graphics Design Institute plans to deploy 10 public computers that run Windows 7 Professional. All windows 7 public computers will run an application named App2. You plan to deploy a virtualization solution that will host 120 virtual machines (VMs). You run performance tests and verify that you can host 20

VMs per server and still maintain adequate performance. EXISTING ENVIRONMENT All client computers run Windows 7 Enterprise and are joined to the Active Directory domain. All of the client computers use wireless WAN (WWAN) network adapters to maintain permanent connections to the Internet. An application named BusinessApp is installed on a server in graphicdesigninstitute.com. BusinessApp only supports Kerberos authentication. Only users in graphicdesigninstitute.com currently use BusinessApp. Existing Network Infrastructure The network contains four IPv4 subnets. REQUIREMENTS Technical Requirements All of the client computers that use IPv4 must be able to communicate with the client computers that use IPv6. Administrators must be able to remotely manage the client computers when users work either from the office or remotely. Administrators must be able to remotely manage the client computers if the users are not logged on to their computers. Administrators must ensure that only App1 and App2 run on the public computers. Graphics Design Institute must meet the following visualization requirements: Support Hyper-V live migration. Minimize hardware and software costs. Ensure that all of the VMs are available if a single server fails. Prevent any impact on the performance of the VMs if a single server fails. Minimize the amount of administrative effort required to manage a storage solution for the Hyper-V servers. Security Requirements The corporate security policy states that when an administrator modifies the permissions assigned to the members of a group named Group1, the permissions must be restored to their default settings.-----
