NEW QUESTION: 1When enabled, which feature prevents routing protocols from sending hello messages on an interface? A. OSPF areas B. passive-interface C. directed neighbors D. virtual links Answer: B Explanation: You can use the passive-interface command in order to control the advertisement of routing information. The command enables the suppression of routing updates over some interfaces while it allows updates to be exchanged normally over other interfaces. With most routing protocols, the passive-interface command restricts outgoing advertisements only. But, when used with Enhanced Interior Gateway Routing Protocol (EIGRP), the effect is slightly different. This document demonstrates that use of the passive-interface command in EIGRP suppresses the exchange of hello packets between two routers, which results in the loss of their neighbor relationship. This stops not only routing updates from being advertised, but it also suppresses incoming routing updates. This document also discusses the configuration required in order to allow the suppression of outgoing routing updates, while it also allows incoming routing updates to be learned normally from the neighbor.

NEW QUESTION: 2Which of the following are possible influencing factors used in Customizing for item category determination?(Choose three) A. Transaction type B. Customer/material info record C. Item category group D. Org. data profile E. Item category usage Answer: A,C,E

NEW QUESTION: 3What is the impact on pre-calculated Rainbow Tables of adding multiple salts to a set of passwords? A. Salts double the total size of a rainbow table database. B. Salts increases the time to crack the original password by increasing the number of tables that must be calculated. C. Salts have little effect because they can be calculated on the fly with applications such as Ophcrack. D. Salts can be reversed or removed from encoding quickly to produce unsalted hashes. Answer: A
