NEW QUESTION: 1 Which statement about host data collection using Cisco Firepower system is true?
A. It does not have the information on host hops separation from the discovery point
B. It depends on the traffic analytics reported by the added host in the system
C. The system prohibits the collection of host data using the NetFlow to avoid inconsistencies
D. It can report the operating system running on the host
E. The system uses host fingerprint to relay host information to ISE using pxGrid
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which declarative process automation feature supports iterating over multiple records?
A. Approval Process
B. Validation Rules
C. Flows
D. Workflow rules
Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3 Which three statements describe user authentication in Cisco DCNM-LAN? (Choose three.)
A. Cisco DCNM-LAN allows you to configure unique credentials for each discovered device or use default credentials when you do not configure unique credentials for a device.
B. Cisco DCNM-LAN server users are local to the Cisco DCNM-LAN server. Creating, changing, and removing Cisco DCNM-LAN server users has no effect on user accounts on managed devices.
C. Cisco DCNM-LAN can use AAA servers to authenticate users. Only TACACS servers are supported.
D. Cisco DCNM-LAN user roles restrict the ability of users to make changes to Cisco DCNM-LAN server settings. Cisco NX-OS user roles enforce read/write privileges on the discovered devices.
E. A Cisco DCNM-LAN server user that has Administrator privileges can push out changes to managed devices even if the Cisco NX-OS role that is used on the discovered device has the network operator role.
Answer: A,B,D
Explanation: DCNM-LAN implements user-based access to allow you to control who can access a DCNM-LAN server by using the DCNM-LAN client. User access is secured by a password. DCNM-LAN supports strong passwords. When you ensure that each person who accesses DCNM-LAN has a unique user account, user-based access allows you to determine what actions are taken by each user. In addition, DCNM-LAN allows you to assign a role to each user. Roles determine what actions a user can take in the DCNM-LAN client

NEW QUESTION: 4 The stock of Nutrisystem, Inc. (NTRI) is selling for $17.70 when Miss Piggy places a limit order to buy the stock at $17.65. During the period the order is open, NTRI falls to $17.60 and then increases to $17.67. Which of the following statements is most likely to be true in this scenario?
A. Miss Piggy bought the stock for no more than $17.60 a share.
B. Miss Piggy bought NTRI at $17.67 a share.
C. Miss Piggy bought the stock for no more than $17.65 a share.
D. Miss Piggy bought the stock for $17.66 a share.
Answer: C
Explanation: If Miss Piggy placed an order to buy the stock of Nutrisystem (NTRI) at $17.65, the statement most likely to be true is that she bought the stock for no more than $17.65. A limit order specifies the maximum price she's willing to pay, and her order would not be executed at any price higher than $17.65. It is possible, but highly unlikely, that her order would be executed for as low as $17.60 a share.
