NEW QUESTION: 1You are designing a localized ASP.NET MVC online shopping application that will be deployed to customers in the United States, China, France, and Brazil. The application must support multiple cultures so that content in the appropriate language is available in each area.You need to ensure that the content can be viewed in several languages.How should you implement this feature?A. Include language-specific content in the assembly manifest and use .NET culture libraries.B. Use Systems.Collections.Generics.Dictionary to store alternative translations.C. Ensure that all strings are marked internal to avoid conflict with internal literals.D. Use a resource (.resx) file to provide translations.Answer: D*Explanation:ExplanationA resource file is an XML file that contains the strings that you want to translate into different languages or paths to images. The resource file contains key/value pairs. Each pair is an individual resource. Key names are not case sensitive. For example, a resource file might contain a resource with the key Button1 and the value Submit.You create a separate resource file for each language (for example, English and French) or for a language and culture (for example English [U.K.], English [U.S.]). Each localized resource file has the same key/value pairs; the only difference is that a localized resource file can contain fewer resources than the default resource file.The built-in language fallback process then handles loading the neutral or default resource.References:

NEW QUESTION: 3Your company deploys System Center 2012 R2 Virtual Machine Manager (VMM). You plan to perform a new server deployment. The new server deployment will include a custom application named App1. You use Server Application Virtualization (Server App-V) to virtualize App1. You create an application profile. You create a service deployment to deploy the App1 by using a Windows Server 2012 R2 template. After deploying the service, you discover that App1 was not installed. You view the application profile as shown in the exhibit. (Click the Exhibit button.) You need to ensure that App1 is installed when you deploy the service. What should you add to the application profile?A. A Script to Application that installs the WebDeploy AgentB. A Script Application that adds the Server App-V AgentC. A Script to Application that installs the Server App-V AgentD. A Script Application that adds the WebDeploy AgentAnswer: B*Explanation:You use Server Application Virtualization (Server App-V) to virtualize App1" (App-V application package, not a Web Deploy application package) Please see the following page for more information on why I think the answer is A. Here is the specific quote from that page- "In VMM in System Center 2012 R2, if you kept the Compatibility option (described in the previous step) set to the default option, General, you can add an application that will be deployed by running a script, such as a script based on a Setup.exe installation program. To add such an application, select Script Application."

<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/hh427291.aspx> Also, in the PetShop example, the application you are deploying is specifically mentioned to be a web deploy application-6. Configure Applications: The application profile for the web tier will contain: 1. Pre-install application profile script to install the Web Deploy client 2. The web deploy application package 3. Post-install application deployment script to configure the web deploy application <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/gg703293.aspx> - How to Install the Server Application Virtualization Agent Use one of the following ways to install the Server App-V Agent. After you install the Agent, you can review the SAVSetupChainerLog.txt file for information about the installation process. Copy the Server App-V Agent installation files (Agentsetup.exe) to the computer that is running Windows Server where you want to install the Server App-V Agent. You must also use the correct version of the installation file that matches the architecture of the computer that you are installing on, x86 or x64. To start the Microsoft Server Application Virtualization Agent setup wizard, double-click AgentSetup.exe. On the Welcome page, click Next. Script to Application is from Orchestrator: http://blogs.technet.com/b/neilp/archive/2013/11/14/scvmm_5f00_servietemplate_5f00_scorch.aspx Script Application is from VMM <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/hh427291.aspx> And the exhibit shows a VMM screenshot (at least that is what I think it is). So I think it should be A
